Mr Harkness made a career of philanthropy, one of Yale's great benefactors, he was responsible for the establishment of the college plan, his generosity making possible the construction of Pierson, Davenport, Jonathan Edwards, Calhoun, Berkeley, and Timothy Dwight colleges and the remodeling of the Memorial Quadrangle, originally given by his mother, to form Saybrook and Branford colleges, it was his wish that all students should participate fully in undergraduate associations and activities, to attain this he provided funds for the establishment and maintenance of the bursary system to assist self-supporting members of the colleges, he encouraged the improvement of undergraduate teaching by augmenting the special fund set up for that purpose, and, to broaden further the curriculum of the School of the Fine Arts, endowed the Department of Drama and gave the University Theatre, other gifts to the University included funds for the erection of the Gallery of Fine Arts, the presentation of numerous art treasures—among them the set of four tapestries originally woven for Elihu Yale—, the expenses of the Yale Endowment Campaign of 1926, and the encouragement of much of the medical work of Yale-in-China.

His gifts were not restricted to his alma mater, he aided the educational and building programs of many preparatory schools and colleges, the most notable of his gifts being those to Harvard and Columbia universities, especially interested in the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center he and his mother aided materially in making the affiliation of the two institutions possible, member board of managers Presbyterian Hospital 1910-40 and on joint administrative board Columbia University-Presbyterian Hospital 1921-29, president The Commonwealth Fund, created by his mother in 1918 "to do something for the welfare of mankind", this fund has bettered rural health, enlarged medical knowledge, strengthened psychiatric service, and fostered international contacts through education; he enriched the collections of a number of museums and libraries; presented many Egyptian antiquities to the Metropolitan Museum of Art which he had served as trustee since 1912 and as chairman committee on Egyptian art 1914-34; deposited rare and important historical manuscripts relating to Spanish conquest of Mexico and Peru in Library of Congress 1929; trustee New York Public Library 1919-29 and New York Zoological Society since 1911, director Union Theological Seminary 1909-28 (member house committee 1909-13 and finance committee 1910-28); honorary associate Residential Houses at Harvard, honorary fellow Undergraduate Colleges at Yale, fellow New York Genealogical and Biographical Society since 1929, director and member executive committee Southern Pacific Company and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company, and director of the New York Central and a number of other railroads; during World War deputy in United States Fuel Administration for New York City, and confidential adviser on railroad problems, United States Housing Corporation, trustee Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York City, 1905-20

FORMS OF BEQUEST

BECAUSE of the constantly increasing tendency on the part of alumni and other friends to provide for the growing needs of the University by bequests, and the many inquiries received each year as to the proper wording hereof, there are given below forms for the convenience of those who plan to remember Yale in their wills.

(GENERAL)

I give and bequeath to Yale University, a corporation existing under and by the virtue of a charter granted by the General Assembly of the Colony and State of Connecticut, and located in the Town of New Haven in said State,
.....
Dollars, to be used (or, the income to be used) at the discretion of the Corporation of said University.

(SPECIFIC)

I give and bequeath to Yale University, a corporation existing under and by the virtue of a charter granted by the General Assembly of the Colony and State of Connecticut, and located in the Town of New Haven in said State,.....
.....
Dollars, to be used (or, the income to be used) for the following purposes:
(Here specify the purposes for which the bequest—or the income therefrom—is to be used.)

(It is strongly recommended that a competent lawyer be employed to prepare the will and to supervise its execution in order that all the requirements of the law of the state in which the maker of the will resides may be fully complied with. It is also wise to give the University considerable latitude in the use of any fund to be established by bequest, or of the income therefrom, so that a change of circumstances may not impair the usefulness of the gift. The Treasurer of the University will be glad upon request to review the phraseology of proposed bequests and to make suggestions with reference thereto.)
